The Washington Herald reports that on Monday President Taft walked to the White House from Chevy Chase through mud six inches deep. That's nothing, as he has been walking through mud ever since he became President; and that's what he gets for being a Republican.

Why wouldn't it be a good thing if somebody in authority should illuminate the signs at the street corners at night so that strangers and piligrims and others who are trying to be born again as Virginians could knew exactly where they had a provided the stay over until Monday. Another Siradivarius.

I see the question has been asked about a Stradivarius violin, whether any relic value, etc. I know of one which bears the imprint 1719, and I believe it to be original. This violin has been in this party's hands fifty-four years and in the family for over one hundred years. It has a fine tone and can be heard any night when it is played one-half mile from the house. Can you tell me who would like to purchase at $5.096?

Bedford City. Va.

You should first have some expert pass judgment on the violin. If he thinks it a genuine Stradivarius it will be worth your while to make a trip to New York and place the violin in the hands of some reliable dealer. For the names of such dealers and for possible purchasers you should write to Musical America, New York City.

This is a question which has puzzled many lovers of nature. So far as definite information on the subject is concerned, we might as well ask where the last snow has gone. The pigeons have disappeared from this clime. We do not recall having seen them in a number of years.
